VOCATIONS

"Those new quotations are tough! . . . Do you have your Civil War chart done yet? . . . How did you figure out that formula? . . . Is this a dagger? . . . MacBeth . . . Will we have to say it or write it? . . . Detention . . . blue slips, yellow slips, white slips . . . Can I go to the library? . . . Thus, we learned."

Learning to Live

VACATIONS

A picnic at Messengers
.... football .... basketball. We won and lost

.... Our dances in the cafeteria .... social hour
.... We baled paper for our school and country

.... Golf .... tennis ...
... swimming .... baseball .... literary programs .... school plays
We learned how to work and play .... and so we lived.

Living to Learn

Our school board, superintendent, faculty, and seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen are all "Living to Learn."

Some live so we can learn, but all are an integral part of this phase of our education.

The patriotic spirit shown by the students is really great. Dick and Jim said their last goodbyes before they left to enlist in the Navy.

Some of those amateurs really have talent, and they did a fine job of displaying it on the Christmas program. Those smiling faces are a result of the junior-senior picnic. With the tire shortage, it looks like the next one will be held on the school campus. "Say, Phyl, that cat has a wicked gleam in his eye." That was the sort of thing we had to look out for while decorating for the "Lock" dances. The Red Cross officers look as though they really enjoy their work, or maybe it's that the students are cooperating so well. Jim didn't get his uniform, but here is Dick just before he left for Pearl Harbor.

We, the departing seniors, take this means of thanking the faculty for their untiring efforts in guiding us over the rough path to a brighter future.

Mr. Akin, who teaches mathematics along with science and physics, made his classes less "painful" by performing interesting experiments.

Due to the patient guidance of Miss Azeltine, L. T. H. S. is turning out many good stenographers and typists for this busy world of today.

Mr. Bismarck, science, biology, and chemistry teacher, helped us in our study of bugs and elements.

Miss Barrick, our mathematics teacher, did her best to teach us what two times two equals.

Our home economics teacher, Miss Catherine Jongsma, followed in the tradition of all good cooks by finding a husband. Mrs. Louis Bottino finished the year in her place.

Our band director, Mr. Caneva, taught many of us how to blow our own horns. I may add that we have become very apt pupils.

TEACHING,

An absence of grammatical mistakes in these passages would be due to the teaching of Miss Fitzgerald and Miss Emmons in English. We hope this is a credit to their work.

Mr. Flink and Mr. Lindberg, athletic director and coach respectively, have helped to make school life more enjoyable through their interesting sports' program.

Who says Latin is a "dead" language? Julius Caesar and his men lived every morning from 8:30 to 9:15 in Mr. Johnsonius's Latin class. He also spends much time teaching the juniors and seniors to act like Garbos and Gables.

Report cards, excuses, and calls to the office have made some of us very frequent callers on Miss Meader.

GUIDING,

Whether we speak of dancing or swimming, the phrase "one, two, three, dip" may be traced to Miss Olson.

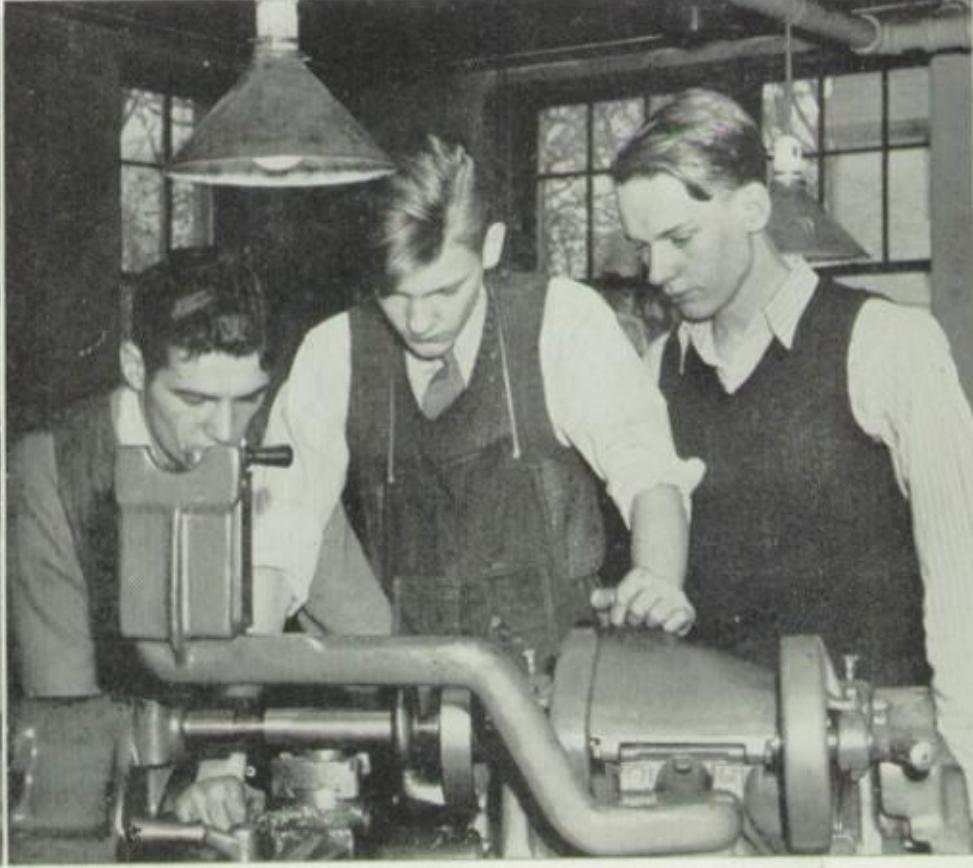

Could this be Mr. Pence we see before us as we creep in our "petty pace" from class to class? He has helped many of us to understand and appreciate Shakespeare.

Uncle Sam needs trained machinists. Mr. Reed has done a fine job of teaching many of the boys the fundamentals in this field.

Aside from teaching art and home planning, Miss Schrock has done great work this year in creating student interest in the defense program and in aiding the Red Cross.

Miss Schumann has certainly done her part in helping to ease our fears as we quake and tremble in the outer office.

Miss Shepherd, our librarian, has befriended all with her skill and willingness to assist us in reference problems.

LEADING,

Mr. Skamser and Mr. Paul White share the honor of teaching the greatest number of subjects. We have no doubt that from them we learned something new each day.

In Mr. Stephenson's history classes we have had the opportunity of fighting more battles than ever. If we had stopped fighting after the Revolution, our task would have been much easier.

Mr. Sterling proved to many of us that it is possible to make clever articles out of trees.

Mr. Weston has accomplished a modern miracle this past year. He found that precious electron that was lost some time ago.

We hope that the mechanics down in Mr. H. A. White's auto shop have figured out a way for our old jalopies to run another ten years or so.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In September 1938, we entered L. T. H. S. as a bewildered group of freshmen, and are coming out this year, hoping to have gained some knowledge.

During these four years we chose Grace Claussen, Amil Ajamie, Phyllis Morey, and John Kesser, presidents; Andy Ladd, Clifford Johnson, June Lynn, and Dean Sterling, vice-presidents; June Lynn, Dean Sterling, John Kesser, and Arthur Pius, secretaries; and Richard Stamm, Phyllis Morey, William Twichell, and Walter Munch, treasurers.

The activities of our first two years were quite limited, but when we became upper classmen our social schedule included the junior play, junior prom, junior-senior parties, and the senior picnic.

Our senior year has added many new and interesting things, as we have a swimming pool, bowling clubs, our senior play, "The Bashful Bachelor," the TIMES and LOCK staffs, our parties, and the junior prom.

Soon we will be leaving L. T. H. S. and hope that every one of our classmates will find future success.

Ye Aulde Willie

We of the graduating class of the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty-two, of Lockport Township High School do hereby decree that the provisions supplied in this will shall be effected immediately following the dismissal of the class.

We, being supposedly sound of mind and sound of body, and hereby stating that we are under no duress, provide for this culde willie the following provisions, to wit:

Article I

To the faculty—in return for the detentions and help they gave us, a little peace.

Article II

To the juniors—our very high scholastic records and our positions on the "Times" and "Lock".

Article III

To anyone else in the school, because they don't matter anyway, we, the tall and short, thin and fat, handsome and ugly, do leave . . . our athletic ability and our awkwardness, our sense of humor and sometimes our obvious lack of a sense of humor, our seats in the assembly hall and standing room at football games, our grins and our groans, our smiles and our frowns, our A's and our F's, our white slips and our blue, and anything else that doesn't cost us a thing.

Class Prophecy

Looking ten years hence, we see some of our boys as veterans of World War II, and taking a peek into a history book, we see that the Japanese population has decreased from 135 million to 135 (and they are under lock and key).

Many of our girls are nurses, school teachers, dress designers and house wives. Strange creatures these girls; some are still girls.

We see all our old classmates flying around in convertible coupe airplanes, and if you think women drivers are bad you should see women pilots!

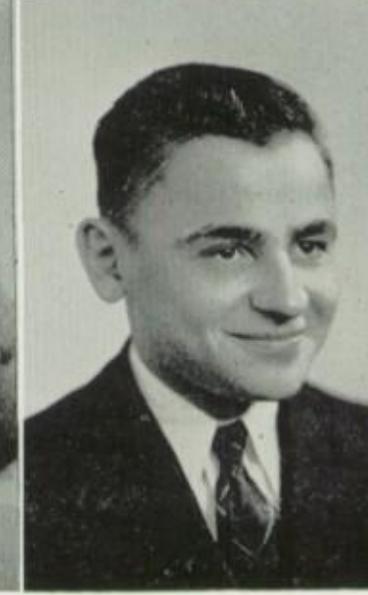

Hollywood is over-run with Lockport talent and several graduates have won Academy Awards. However, the larger proportions of our class do not have their Oscars.

A few of our classmates are still continuing their education—their 14th year in L. T. H. S.

With these pleasant glances into the future, we end our prophecy with the following brainstorm:

"We ain't braggin'
But it's understood
Whatever we did
We did it good!"

Attested and sealed MCMXLII.

Gregory Tadey

March 12, 1924—May 17, 1940

"To live as gently as I can;

To take what comes of good or ill
And cling to faith and honor still;
To do my best, and let that stand
The record of my brain and hand."

BOARD OF CONTROL

The board of control with the assistance of Mr. Smith determines the athletic policy of our school. They pass on schedules, determine prices of tickets, certify the awarding of letters, budget finances, and arrange for the annual athletic banquet given each year for all branches of competitive athletics in the school.

RED CROSS

One of our newest and most active groups in school this year was the Red Cross. The group below was divided into various committees and conducted membership drives, collected for war relief, collected cards and gadgets for veterans, the girls knitted and sewed, and the boys did a fine job of selling defense stamps. Some of us took the first aid course, while everyone did his part.

MUSIC

Mr. Caneva this year was given charge of all music in our school. It is believed that this will provide a closer co-operation and handling of the band, orchestra, and glee club. All three units took part in a concert last December, the Christmas program, and the gym exhibit. The orchestra and glee club also helped provide music at our junior and senior plays. Because of the war our band is not entering the state contest this year. Money usually provided for this will be used in giving concerts at home and at some of the nearby training camps this summer. In this we will be able in a small way to help in civic and military morale.

CAFETERIA COMMITTEE

Organized for the purpose of entertaining the students during the noon hour and helping the faculty maintain order in the cafeteria, the cafeteria committee well serves its purpose.

Under the direction of Bill Twichell, chairman, the committee of ten provided the students with cards, games, and other sources of entertainment when prevailing conditions prevented the students from going outdoors.

B. Pickett, Mr. Caneva, K. Sherman, Mr. Johnsonius, J. McGuire, J. Rodeghero.

LITERARY SOCIETY

This year the Literary Society provided the school with many more educational and entertaining programs than in preceding years.

Our first assembly on October 8 found us with Mr. Barney Stapert, who exhibited his skill in speed typing.

On October 15 the Phillip Yung Lees entertained us with their speech on Chinese culture and music.

Burton L. Jackson entertained us with his marimba solos on October 27.

We were "Paging Uncle Sam" on November 3 with Walter Morgan.

"Persia Met America" by means of Julia Sherman on December 2.

On January 20, Russ Hoagherhyde explained the art of archery.

The mysteries of liquid air were explained to us by Dr. F. H. Brown on February 4.

March 15 brought us Mr. White, an F.B.I. man.

March 30 carried us along to the school for Drama.

On April 14, Geoffrey F. Morgan told us about the "Marks of a Man."

SOCIAL HOUR COMMITTEE

Six social hours were held in the cafeteria during December, January, and February; each was directed by a committee consisting of one faculty member and four members of the student body.

The first social hour was held on Monday, December 8, directed by Miss Barrick and her assistants. Entertainment was furnished by Shirley Jungles, singing and playing the guitar, and Beverly Wright, singing and dancing.

This year a loud speaker system was installed so that recordings furnished music for dancing, and as a result many new couples were seen on the floor.

This year the Lock Staff was divided into three committees under Phil Peck, Walter Munch, and Grace Claussen. At each of the many entertaining dances held in the cafeteria, the respective committees had charge of tickets, decorating, and managing the various dances. These dances not only provided the students with entertainment, but also raised about twenty dollars from each dance to help finance our yearbook.

A new method of raising money was suggested by some of the staff members, and as a result, baling paper proved to be a great help in producing additional money for the yearbook.

A few days before the dead line for all material to be in, these comments of the staff could be heard.

"Say, what are you writing your editorials on?" Andy and Ruth.

"Know any dirt we can clean up on, Grace?" June Lynn.

"Hey, Jean, be a pal and take the notes on the assembly?" Florence Zelke.

"I'm really going to play basketball tonight so that I can write about at least one victory." Clifford Mulbarger.

"Do you have time to type my material for me?" Jack Underwood.

"There is some funny business around somewhere!" Amil Ajamie.

"Why don't you find it then?" Ted Harpham.

"You people must hurry and get in your material; I have very little material as yet." Mr. Pence.

"THE BASHFUL BACHELOR"

"The Bashful Bachelor," a three act comedy written by Anne Ferring Weatherly, was presented in the auditorium, April 30 and May 1, under the direction of Mr. A. L. Johnsonius.

The story is based upon a bashful young author who deserts New York for the anticipated solitude of a small midwestern town, only to find it a college town—a girls' college town, mind you—just what our hero hopes to escape.

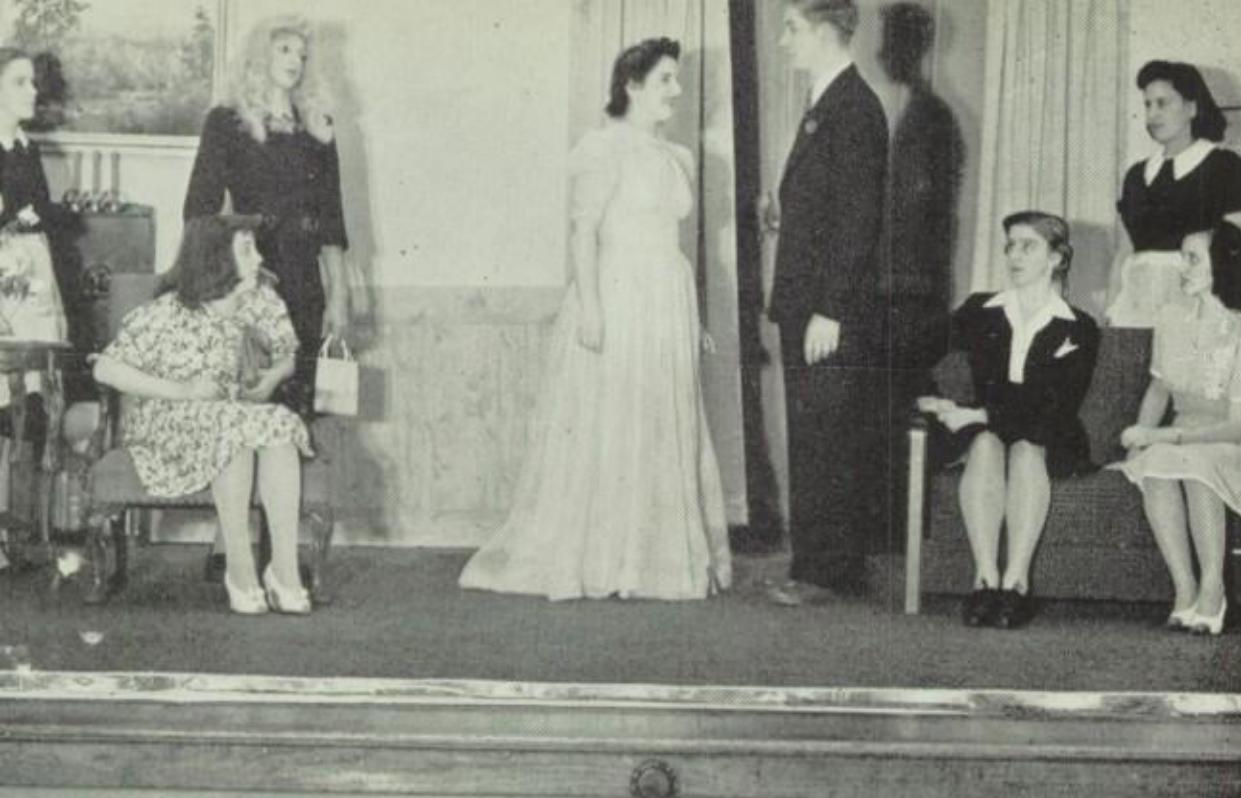

The girls like him, but he finds only one that he cares for, and for a while she doesn't like him. Then finally she likes him, and after a sidesplitting "button-button-who's-got-the-pears" fiasco that warrants further explanation, the guy gets the gal and it's all over.

The high spot is in the third act when a burglar steals the family jewels—they are pearls in this case. They get the pearls back from him, however, and practically drive the man insane while doing it. The poor burglar cries for joy when the police finally arrive.

*"YOUR FACE

"Your Face Is Familiar"

The action of the play centers around the Girard home. Lewis has gone to meet a Mr. Haviland, who may give him an important position. His wife invites his two rivals for dinner to keep them out of the way. These two used to be rivals for Gracie, and they detest each other very much.

They arrive separately, and learning the other is to be there, each dresses up as a woman to pose as the other's abandoned wife.

Lewis invites Mr. Haviland to his home. The two impersonators then want nothing so much as to get out of their skirts and wigs and try for the position themselves.

In the meantime, the little wife gets jealous of the impersonators and Lewis gets jealous of the two men his wife invites.

Every well-managed farce must work out to a happy ending, and this one gets there through one button-busting situation after another.

Learning to live

We worked hard at our play and sometimes, I'm afraid, we played too hard at our work. We lost and we won, but in the losing, as well as in the winning, we received a vital part of our education.

We certainly gave Crane Tech of Chicago a nice thumping in golf last fall . . . That was before any priorities on golf balls and tires. . . . Our coach looks rather startled here, doesn't he? . . . Don't tell his wife. . . We tried swimming in our new pool this year . . . It certainly was fun, and a bit attractive too. . . Another new sport for us was bowling. . . How did that match with the faculty come out? . . . I hope they did better than our golf team did against the faculty last spring. . . Of course we had our regular sports like football and the rest. . . We tossed in a couple of spectators, because you know they help pay the bill.

HEAVYWEIGHT FOOTBALL

After a slow start, Coach Lindberg's heavyweight football squad ended the season in fine style, playing the last four games without suffering a defeat. The Porters did not compete in the South Suburban League as they have in previous years, because of the larger size of the other schools. Sixteen seniors from the squad will graduate in June, leaving quite a task for our mentor next year.

The above pictures show a group of Lockport players during the Argo game, which was played on a very muddy field. This fact is evident by the muddy appearance of quarterback Moore, and linemen Kent and Twichell. White, with his chin resting on his thumbs, does not seem very enthusiastic about the whole affair.

The bottom picture at the left shows M. Homerding buried under six-hundred pounds of dynamite. The boys at the right are getting all prettied up for their group pictures.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

Under the expert guidance of coaches Stephenson and Flink, the lightweights, frequently referred to as the battling lightweights, ended the season with 3 wins and 3 defeats. Since sixteen of the heavyweights are graduating, many of these lightweights will probably see action with the heavyweight squad next season.

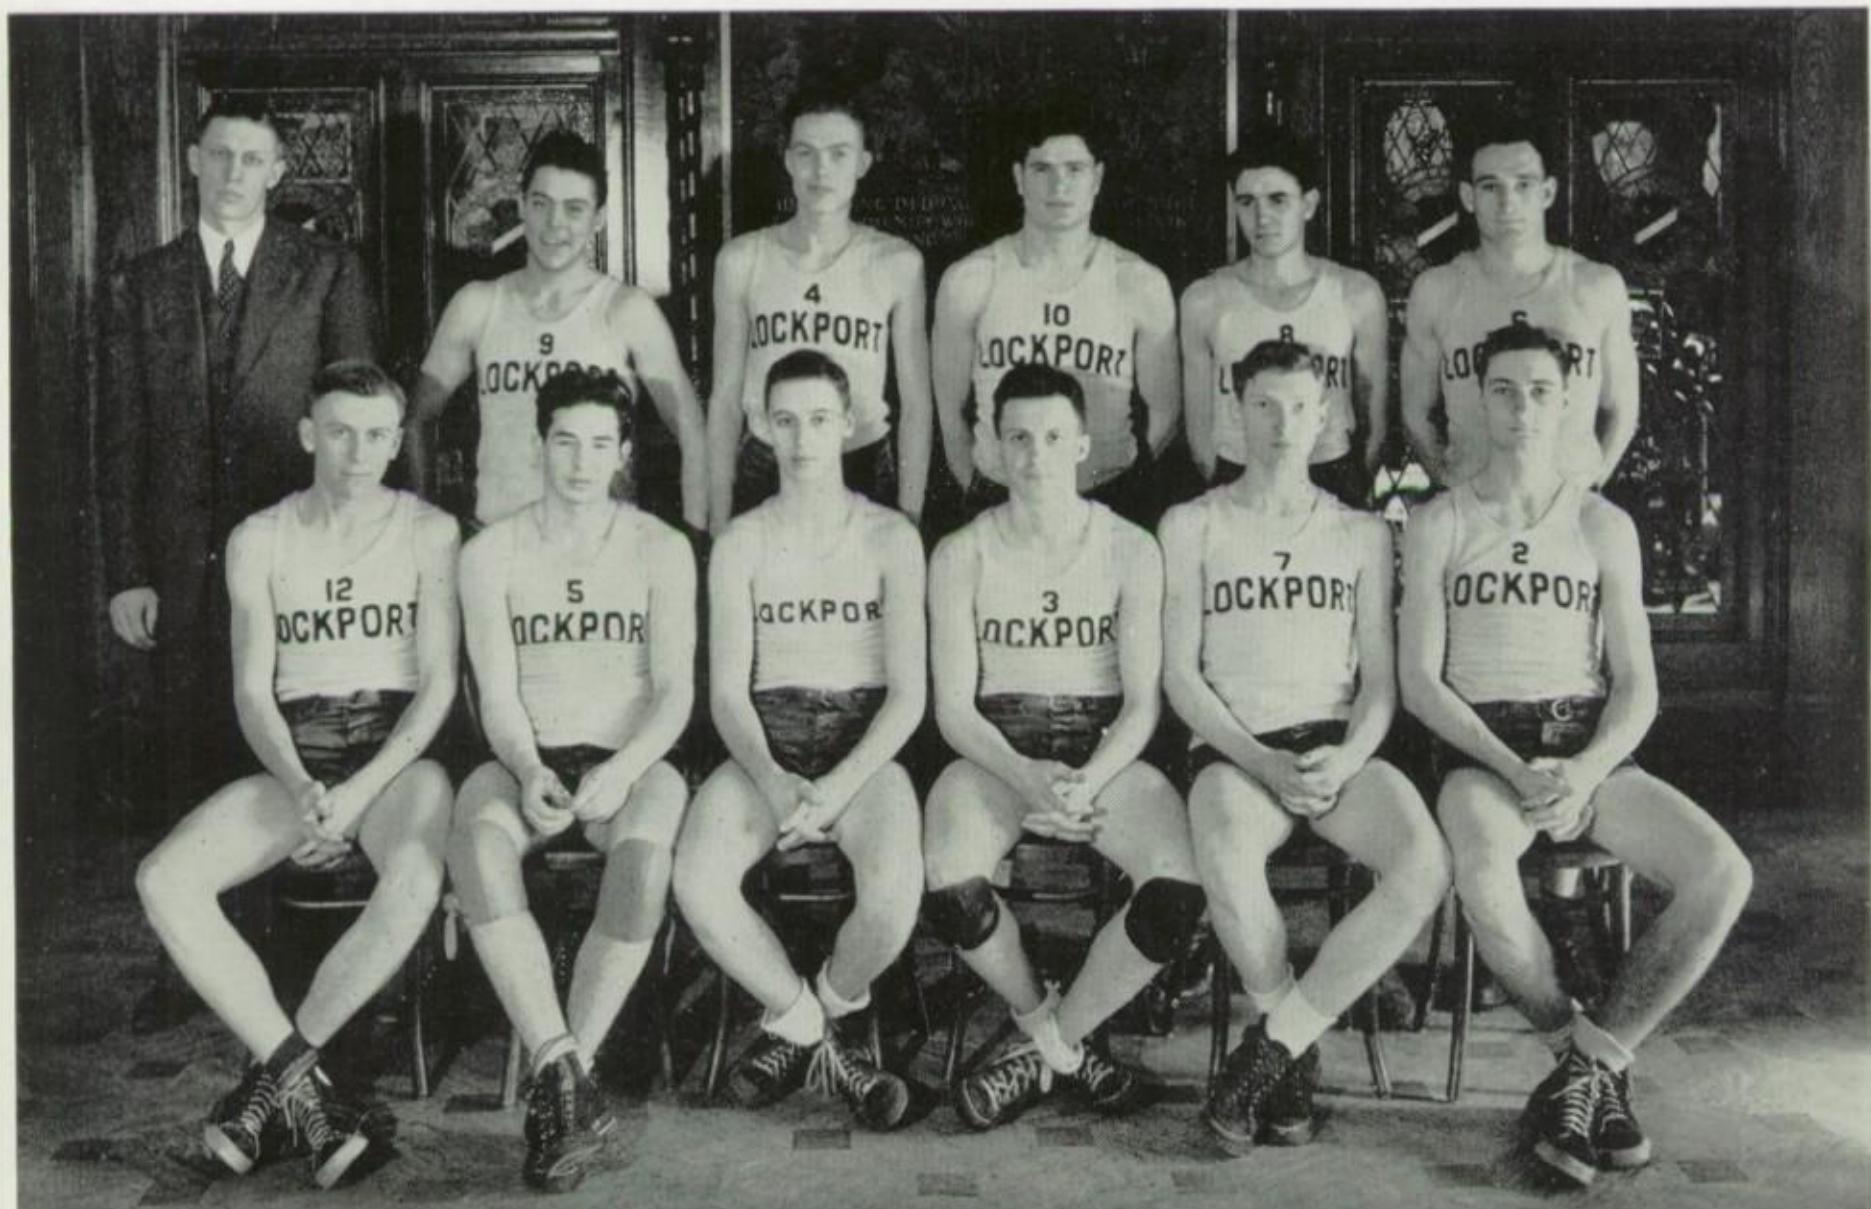

Above at the left we see "Tiny" Johnson about to block the way of Ray Sullivan, who does not seem to be a bit afraid of his giant opponent. At the right we find John Lynch, with the bashful look on his face, Neal Murphy, and Mr. Flink hiding a sail boat under the slicker. Below we find that the lights couldn't let the heavies outpile them, and at the right some fake cheer under a gloomy sky.

HEAVYWEIGHT BASKETBALL

Our team showed definite signs of improvement toward the latter part of the season, but not quite enough to defeat our old rival, Joliet, and consequently we were eliminated from the sectional tournament played at Chicago Heights. The team this year was composed mainly of seniors who include: A. Pius, J. Murphy, R. Kuebler, C. Mulbarger, R. Green, W. Twichell, W. White and M. Homerding. Two underclassmen, Miller and Resis, saw a lot of service and will be back.

The above picture shows Coach Lindberg explaining a play to six members of his squad, who evidently are quite interested in what he is telling them. On scrutinizing the drawing of the basketball court, hastily drawn on the locker room floor, one can see written in the left portion of the diagram the name, Mulbarger, who seems to be quite puzzled concerning the procedure of the outlined play.

LIGHTWEIGHT BASKETBALL

Although the Lockport lightweight basketball team did not win many games, it can be said that they participated in a record-breaking game. In a game played with Blue Island, a new record for the year was set when forty-two personals were committed by both sides.

Since there were no seniors on the squad, most of these lightweights will undoubtedly see action with either the lights or the heavies next season.

OUR NEW SWIMMING POOL

That much awaited event finally happened for us. The new swimming pool was opened to the students soon after the school year began.

It was hoped that the pool would have been completed last year, but unforeseen difficulties kept popping up. And now at last gym classes mean (at least once a week) swimming time.

The girls' classes are divided into three divisions; beginners, intermediates and advanced.

Miss Olson is teaching the girls of the advanced section how to dive.

Mr. Flink reports that one of the best things about the pool is to see one of the boys who had never been swimming before swim the length of the pool after two lessons.

Advance classes in life-saving for both boys and girls have been taught by Mr. Lindberg.

Rack row: M. Homerding, W. Twichell, J. Rooney, D. Johnson, R. Solley, J. Petre, R. Kuebler, V. Reiter, R. Beavers, W. Rodeghero, W. White, J. Bertelsen, J. Kesser, J. Bjorkman, R. Sorg, Mr. Flink.

Middle row: R. White, D. Goodale, R. Clift, R. Kucera, F. Belander, F. Miller, G. Murawski, R. Dosenbrock, W. Garvey, G. Zager, T. McCoy, J. Garvey.

BASEBALL

A very fine group of seasoned ball players should give Lockport a winner in this great American sport. Some of our veterans who should produce are Bob White, Gene Murawski, Mer Homerding, Nick Kuebler, Goop Beavers, and the three Johnnies, Bertelsen, Kesser, and Bjorkman.

TRACK

We don't have many boys out for track, but these few led by our speedster, Henry Henderson, can be depended on to pick up a few points in every meet they enter.

Mr. Lindberg, V. Mazzucco, H. Henderson, C. Close, R. Corwin, N. Etchison.

Back row: Mr. Stephenson, H. Bowers, H. Tatroe, H. Raue, C. Mulbarger, R. Kuebler, P. Peck, T. Harpham, A. Ladd.
Front row: J. Rodeghero, J. Murray, W. Sineni, D. Ott, E. Bancroft, J. Bennett, R. Kuebler, A. Bennett, D. Sterling.

GOLF

We might end up walking to the courses and swatting cotton balls, but we're going to play a few schools this year although our schedule is much reduced. The largest squad in the history of the school is out to gain a place on the team. Andy Ladd, a veteran with three year's experience, is sure to be one of the best in this district and with a little help along the way this might be our year.

TENNIS

We have the unusual experience this year of being short on veteran talent and long on willing recruits. It's a healthy sign that with every place on the team wide open there are plenty of competitors to dispute claim to any position.

Back row: Mr. Stephenson, D. Anderson, W. Collins, T. Harpham, W. Munch, P. Peck, A. Ladd.
Front row: R. Lucas, K. Jordan, W. Quigley, R. Synwolt, W. Hostetler, G. Resis.

Below: R. Kuebler, A. Boe, B. Barnes, R. Stamm.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS

This fine action shot of the managers shows them hard at work dispensing equipment, checking supplies, inflating basketballs, giving out towels, and being on their toes to help make our athletic department function smoothly.

CHEERLEADERS

Tryouts and eliminations were held this year for cheerleaders with the two boys and two girls above being chosen for this year's quartet. This is the first time in several years that boys were able to survive the eliminations. These two boys peppted things up considerably in a loud sort of way. This, added to the finesse of Adele and Bernice, our veteran pepsters, gave Lockport High teams plenty of morale throughout the year.

BOWLING

A boys' bowling league was formed this year under the direction of Mr. Stephenson. Six teams were organized with a rotating schedule in operation on Thursday afternoons after school. Team standings and individual averages were kept. The five boys with high averages bowled several matches with the faculty and other schools. The faculty proved to be rather easy.

Miss Olson organized a girls' league and those shrieks heard all over town were generally on a Tuesday afternoon. Several of the girls had bowled prior to this year, but as this is the first year for our alleys, we feel that bowling is a coming sport in our high school.

Back row: Miss Olson, L. Krumlinde, W. Cogswell, A. White, M. Bapst, M. Oberg, D. Anderson, B. J. Murphy, B. Barnes, R. Ingersoll, L. Ayers, M. Radakovich, E. Grohar, D. Johnson, J. Kucik.

G. A. A.

The purpose of the G. A. A. is to encourage good sportsmanship, an interest in sports, and better health rules.

The officers for the school year 1941-42 were: Phyllis Morey, president; Betty Thomas, vice-president; Jean Kennedy, secretary; and Dorothy E. Johnson, treasurer.

The activities for the year included parties, basketball and volleyball tournaments, and basketball shooting contests. Many of us also received extra credit for taking part in the riding club, bowling, swimming, and golf.

G. A. A. PLEDGE

I promise to uphold the ideals of the Girls' Athletic Association
By promoting interest in the out-of-doors,
By living so that I may be healthy and strong,
By making good sportsmanship a common factor in my conduct.

Back row: D. Johnson, B. Murphy, J. Lynn, S. Mayne, W. Miller, M. Anderson, M. Thoren, H. Fellman, M. Radakovich.

Middle row: E. Krohn, G. Adelmann, J. Sherman, A. Boe, R. Gibes, M. Keir, E. Grohar, M. Radakovich, S. White, D. Clift, A. Mayne, J. Faust, B. Bokan, J. Kennedy.

Front row: V. Spangler, D. Miller, C. Materna, P. Morey, I. Gibes, B. Schehr, A. White, N. Bruce, B. Barnes, R. Robbins, G. Claussen, M. Morgan, J. Manning.

GIRLS' RIDING CLUB

This riding club of ours isn't cantering along the road to success, it's galloping. We have a sneaking suspicion that these girls are a little smarter than the rest of us. In a few more years when every garage is a stable, they will at least know how to hold the crop and gloves and stay on at the same time.

GIRLS' GOLF

"Now girls, how many times have I told you not to bend your left elbow. You over there, keep swinging! Your grip is wrong. Hold the club in your fingers. Now see how I do it. See how smooth it is with a slower backswing. All right, try it again. Next week we'll have the five iron, and keep 'em swinging." That girls, was that affable maestro of golf swing, Mr. Sick.

Back row: Miss Olson, P. Morey, J. Lynn, S. Mayne, G. Adelmann, G. Pesavento, B. Pickett, H. Sick.

Front row: S. Hamilton, R. Robbins, M. McCabe, C. Materna, A. LaBahn, R. Anderson.

Hold my horse, Jeeves, while I climb aboard for a little canter around the circle . . . It looks as though Mary Lou has her left arm bent a trifle . . . I wonder where Gloria finds her caddies? Look at that golf ball go . . I wish it would make up its mind where, so that the gals would look in the same direction.
